Paying respect is a personal perspective, owned by each of us. No matter how you choose, the act of paying respect to anyone is usually appreciated. Today, we brought folks together in an effort to pay respect to those who have served in our military. We can only hope that, as we pass by with our flags waving in the breeze, the onlookers were satisfied to see us paying respect in our own way. Thank you so much, to Dan Lee, Jim Daimus, John and Pauline Koff, Ralph and Mary Ellen Knotts, Mary Anne Miller and yours truly for taking the time to demonstrate our appreciation to our veterans.
